THE SHAD. - As this favorite fish is in season, the following hints or its cooking from an appreciative gourmand in the Round Table are both timely and interesting:

"There be Goths-abhorred of tasteful aris-tologists-who will hack a shad to pieces and cook the fractions in a frying-pan. The fish should be split open, carefully cleaned, broiled whole on a gridiron, annointed with fresh butter, and served smoking hot. No condiments are needed, except salt and white pepper, for broiled shad hath a savor that no sauce can improve. The more insipid codfish and the drier bass may require a dash of anchovy or soy to give them zest, but your broiled shad contains within itself ambrosial elements which it were treason to the palate to disguise .-Some epicures prefer the fish baked, and really, if the stuffing be judiciously compounded of egg, bread-crumbs, lemon an thyme, and duly seasoned, baked shad is not to be des-

TO THE MASONIC FRATERNITY. - During the occupation of the town of Port Royal, in the State of Virginia, by the Federal troops, in May, 1864, the Masonic Lodge rooms of Lodge No. 2, were broken open, and the Silver Jewels taken therefrom -as follows:

1. A large Square, engraved "Killwinning Crosse Lodge. 2. A pair of Compasses. 3. A Square. 4. A Plumb. 5. A Level, worn by the Master and Wardens of the Lodge.-These Jewels were presented to the Lodge by a Brother of the Grand Lodge of Scotland, more than one hundred years ago, and were much valued. Should any of them ever be 171 recovered by a Masonic brother, or any other person friendly to the craft, he is respectfully requested to forward them to Baltimore, to the care of Captain KIRWAN, of the steamer "Mary Washington,' who will deliver them to the CHARLES URQUHART, Past Master of Lodge No. 2. Port Royal, Va., 18th April, 1866.

The New York correspondent of the Baltimore Sunday Telegram, under date of 22nd instant, says:-"The recent assault upon Mr. Corbin Washington, second mate of the ship Washington Booth, by the captain of that vessel, furnishes another of the many instances of the outrageous treatment to which the officers and men of American ships are so often subjected. The victim in this case is a most intelligent man, and has evidently received a much better education than the generality of scafare-ing men. He is one of the few descendants of George Washington. He was born at Mount Eagle, Fairfax co., Va., on the 3d of May, 1827, and is a son of Bushrod Washington, jr., whose father, Col. Wm. Augustine Washington, was a nephew of our first President. Mr. Washington is believed to be the nearest relative of the "Father of his Country," now living, and as such, is deserving of more than a passing notice. He was beaten by the Captain, and when landing here immediately went before the United States Commissioners, where he lodged his complaint. The case has been postponed."

DESPERATE DUEL. - A desperate duel was fought on Wednesday in the neighborhood of the city, between an ex-Contederate and Federal officer. The weapons were pistols, and at the first fire the Federal received the bullet of his antagonist through both lungs, causing a dangerous and probably a fatal wound. The ex-Confederate was shot through both legs below the knee, the tibia of the right leg being broken. Though serious, his hurts are not dangerous. We believe the quarrel arose from politics. The Federal is a native of France, whilst the ex-Confederate is either a native Frenchman or a Creole of French extraction, who was an officer in Coppen's Lousiana batallion, and had been publicly complimented by Gen. Lee on the battle-field for his gallantry. It is rumored about town that three more duels were to have been fought yesterday afternoon, and three more this morning .- New Orleans Crescent, 20th.

Glycerine is the sweet principle of oil, and is extensively used for purposes of the toilet; but it has now received an application of rather an unexpected nature. In 1847 a pupil of M. Pelouze's, M. Sobrero, discovered that glycerine when treated with nitric acid, was converted into a highly explosive substance which he called nitro-glycerine. It is oily, heavier than water, soluble in alcohol and other, and acts so powerfully on the nervous system that a single drop placed on the top of the tongue will cause a violent headache, which will last for several

The fact that Dr. Slayter, who attended the cholcra patients on board the steamer England, on her arrival off Halifax, had fallen a victim to the disease, has already been mentioned. The Montreal Gazette says that two other physicians, Drs. Gossip and Garrie, were subsequently stricken down by the disease, but have recovered. Eight of the passengers made their escape from the quarantine ship. Three cases of cholera have also been reported at Halifax. The Rev. Mr. McIsaac, a Catholie priest of that city, had an attack, but at the last dates was recovering.
